

This test passes if next line says F

F

The previous line says FAIL. However we consider it to be correct. Although the font-family specified by the paragraph's class doesn't match the one of fontface, font's full name contains specified font-family and iText takes it into account.

UPD: That is not relevant anymore. The line shall say F as in browsers and that's considered to be correct behavior.