Test passes if there is a single black box above a blue box (there can be white space between the boxes) and the black box has the same width as the blue box.